If someone is detained

The basics, and where to find trusted, up-to-date information in your language

Immigration laws and rules change often. This page gives only the basics. For up-to-date information, call an immigration lawyer or use the sites below. Many offer help in Spanish and other languages. This is not legal advice.

Call an immigration lawyer

Catholic Charities

- 405-506-0346

Latitude Legal Alliance

- 5650 S. Western, Oklahoma City
- Low-cost or free legal representation for green cards, family reunification, asylum and humanitarian visas, for underserved areas of the state.
- 405-252-0041

If a family member is detained

1. Write down the full name, date of birth, country of birth and A-number, if they have one.
2. Call an immigration lawyer (above).
3. Call your country's consulate (below).
4. The lawyer or consulate can help find the person. There is also the ICE locator (below).

Government phone line

Venezuela

- We could not confirm a working Venezuelan consulate in the United States. Call an immigration lawyer (above) for help.

Another country

- Search for "consulate of (your country)" in Dallas or Houston, or ask a lawyer.

Your basic rights

1. Everyone in the United States has rights under the Constitution, whatever their immigration status.
2. You have the right to stay silent.
3. You have the right to talk to a lawyer.
4. Do not sign any paper you do not understand.
5. For more detail in your language, see the red cards and videos (below).

Get ready ahead of time

1. Choose a trusted person who can care for your children.
2. Keep important papers and phone numbers where that person can find them.
3. Talk to an immigration lawyer before anything happens.
4. A family plan to fill in is in the links below.
